

Win a Free Registration to the IRMI Construction Risk Conference

- Winner and finalists are recognized in front of over 1,000 industry leaders at the Gary E. Bird Horizon Award Luncheon held on Wednesday during the Conference.
- Winner receives one complimentary registration to the IRMI Construction Risk Conference, free roundtrip coach airfare, and a free hotel room throughout the Conference.
- Winner and finalists, subject to their approval, receive publicity during the Conference, within the IRMI web site and in the trade press afterwards.

Who

The Gary E. Bird Horizon Award is open to all full-time business professionals (including risk management teams) charged with managing construction risks for their employers. See www.IRMI.com/Go/Horizon for complete eligibility guidelines.

What

The Gary E. Bird Horizon Award honors the memory of Gary E. Bird, and other risk professionals who perished on 9/11. It recognizes those who develop new and innovative ways to approach the risks associated with large construction projects.

Where and When

The Gary E. Bird Horizon Award is presented annually by International Risk Management Institute, Inc.[®] at the IRMI Construction Risk Conference. Submissions are due on or before August 16, 2010.

Why

The Gary E. Bird Horizon Award recognizes innovation in construction risk management, and reminds the industry that innovation is important for continuous improvement and progress in identifying and controlling risks.

How

Individual candidates or teams may be nominated or may nominate themselves. It's easy to qualify your technique or process for submission at www.IRMI.com/Go/Horizon.

Get more details at

IRMI.com/Go/Horizon